

PROVIDING FINANCIAL SECURITY

For more than 175 years, the life insurance industry has helped people through all stages of life. Today, as society and work change, both life insurers and financial professionals are at work to strengthen the financial footing of everyday Americans in communities nationwide.

PROTECTION FOR EVERY STAGE OF LIFE

- Life insurance safeguards family finances if a loved one passes away.
- Paid leave benefits help keep workforces strong and protect the financial future of caregivers.
- Retirement savings and personal pensions provide critical income through retirement.
- Supplemental benefits serve alongside major medical insurance to protect budgets and savings.
- Long-term care insurance can cover the costs of long-term care services and protect a lifetime of retirement savings.

Financial professionals help individuals, families and businesses manage risk through these individual and workplace benefits.

The industry offers products and services that are there for people on their best days – when babies come home or a retirement is celebrated. And they are there on their worst days – when disability strikes or a loved one dies. Our promises are guaranteed.

As Congress advances tax legislation in 2025, the life insurance industry supports public policy that strengthens Americans' ability to build financial certainty through all stages of life. Everyone deserves access to affordable products and information.
